

Favorite quotes from the Dowager Countess of Downton Abbey:

VIOLET, COUNTESS OF GRANTHAM

You're lucky. I have a horrible feeling Simmons is about to hand in her notice. She's looking very fidgety lately, and I saw her hurrying to meet the postman.

CORA, COUNTESS OF GRANTHAM

Oh, you poor thing. Is there anything worse than losing one's maid?

VIOLET, COUNTESS OF GRANTHAM

I mean, why would she want to leave me? I've been as gentle as a lamb.

[Cora gives Violet a dubious look as a servant brings them tea.]

VIOLET, COUNTESS OF GRANTHAM

Most of the time.

June 6, 2014

I felt like I had walked into a bad April Fool's joke. This falls under the category of, who knew?

So my riding lawn mower needs a new battery. Should be pretty simple, right? So the first store (that was a clue, BTW) I went to didn't have batteries. They sell lawn mowers, but apparently not riding ones and not batteries. Strike 1. The next day - you've got to realize that I try to do these chores on the way to the shop and I have a limited time frame - I go to the store where I bought the riding lawn mower many years ago. They don't sell the batteries in the same place where they sell the mowers. Apparently it's not a replacement part. You have to go to the car shop for the lawn mower battery.

The clerk had 2 different ones, but she asks me whether I had a right handed or left handed battery. And that's when I thought I had walked into a bad April Fool's joke. My reply: Seriously? And my next thought was, can't you just turn it around? But clearly I don't know anything about these things.

So then she says she can sell me one and take the chance it is correct, or she can sell me two, but then I'll have to come back to return the one I don't need. "I want to save you a trip," she explains. And I'm thinking to myself, "I gotta make a trip back home one way or the other." She doesn't offer to look up my model on line or provide any other assistance, other than to suggest I look online. Why do sales people do that? She must not be working on any kind of a commission, I guess. Anyway, since I've scheduled only 30 minutes for this trip: Strike 2.

Strike 3 came a couple more days later. And you realize that the grass keeps growing, right? Anyway, this time I figure I'll try a battery shop. And I come armed with the type of battery I need, the operator's manual and info gleaned from the internet, including an article that told me, "One of the most critical functions of a riding lawn mower battery is to provide the power to start the lawn mower." After I picked myself up off the floor, I read the next sentence: "Another function is to operate the many electronic controls of the lawn mower."

The rest of the article wasn't much better. Nothing about right & left handed batteries, nothing about federal regulations, nothing about amps, cold cranking or not, no warnings about not crossing wires or laying the wrench across the battery terminals - unless you want to see something explode. No useful information other than to have the brand and model number because "you may be able to directly replace the battery with the same make and model number. Check your local home improvement store to see if it is still sold there." You need to read that last bit out loud in a first grade school teacher voice. Or maybe Martha Stewart's voice, although she probably runs her riding lawn mower on potatoes that she has grown herself and she doesn't need to buy batteries.

Anyway, now much more informed than on the last two tries, I get to the battery shop and the young sales clerk is outside talking with his girlfriend who is sitting in a car in the parking lot. I know this because as I walk into the store, he hustles in after me.

So - and remember I'm in a battery shop - he asks me what I'm looking for. I couldn't resist. I look around the store and say, "A battery." Then I relent and tell him I need a battery for my riding lawn mower and I show him the specs in the manual and tell him I know the positive node is on the right side. I'm feeling pretty smug about this, meaning, pretty smart. I've done my required internet research. And he's nodding like I've intelligently given him everything he needs to supply my need. He brings out a battery, then asks if I have the core.

And I go, "What?" "Did you bring the core in?" Now, I've never heard that word used for a battery, but I figured that was what he was talking about, but because I don't like secret agent spy words for things involving riding lawn mowers, I looked straight at him and said, "What's a core?"

He explains that I get money back if I bring in the old battery, and rattles on about federal regulations, then says he could sell me this one, and provide a refund later, but he didn't want me to make - you got it - two trips. Sigh. So I said I'd go fetch the old battery and he said he'd just hold this battery for me, and I said, better not, it'll be a few days before I can come back. I didn't tell him my 30 minutes window was gone.

This should not be that difficult. So now I'm going to a different battery store. This time a local, home grown store. And I will take in my old battery. And I'll get the model number of the tractor off the tractor-just in case the owner's manual doesn't list it. And I should be riding around this weekend, drinking beer and mowing grass.

It's officially summer!

P.S. In case you're wondering about my refrigerator, I didn't have to shoot it. The repair guy came out, took one look at the back of the frig, and told me all he had to do was wrap the metal joint thingy on the water hose with bubble wrap. Bubble wrap. I could have done that. Another one for the category of, who knew?

P.S. I won't bore you with the details of "how to get the old battery unscrewed from the lawn mower" because it falls under the category of "Removing Old Lawn Mower Batteries for Really Dumb Dummies 101."

WORLD WIDE KNIT IN PUBLIC DAY AND SUPPORT YOUR LOCAL DUCK DERBY WITH PILLOW CASES!

Okay, I'm combining two different events, but it's June. What can you do?

First: WWKIP day. Bring your lawn chairs, knitting, snacks, water and sunscreen to the shop and be prepared to knit in public from 1-5. We'll sit outside the shop and demonstrate our proficiency at knitting. In others words, we'll just sit & knit in public. This is a world wide event that happens each year, for a week. This year from June 14 through June 22. It's the largest knitter run event in the world, according to the WWKIP site, celebrating knitting and other fiber arts. And that's where the quilting part comes in.

Second: Duck Derby. Youth Alternatives holds a Duck Derby during Super Days. We will be selling ducks for you to "adopt" for the event. 1,000 ducks will be available for adoption: A single duck is $5, a quack of ducks (5) is $20, and a flock of 'em is $100 (20). All 1,000 ducks, sold or not, are released and they swim down a slide. The one crossing the finish line first, wins. Essentially that's how it works.

So why adopt a rubber duck, you ask? Proceeds benefit Special Friends and Youth Alternatives. PLUS--there is always a plus -- by adopting a duck you are entered to win all sorts of prizes, from cash awards to movie tickets to restaurants gift cards.

In addition, from 1-5 we're holding a Pillow Case Party to benefit Youth Alternatives & Special Friends. For every pillow case kit sold, Around the Block will donate $5 to YA & SF. Plus, anyone who makes a pillow case (or two or more) and donates it/them to YA & SF, Around the Block will adopt a duck in your name. We even have duck fabric that would make cute duck pillow cases. All donated pillow cases will be sold at Duck Derby for YA & SF. So how many pillow cases can we make in 4 hours?

And for extra excitement, the Duck may come to the shop on the 14th to help promote Duck Derby. You don't want to miss the Duck.

Bucking Horse and Rider fans!

I got to see the fabric live in person this week. And the Moss and Buckskin fabrics are startling beautiful. And I have learned there is no more to be had. I will be able to order in October for more fabric in all 6 colors, delivery date in May. But if we don't get enough orders placed, for any one color, Hoffman won't be able to print that color.

So if you haven't yet placed an order and want the fabric, don't wait until it gets here. It may sell out before it arrives.

If you want to put the BH&R on backs or borders of quilts, you must think in yardage. 2-3 yards for borders (depending on size of quilt) and 5-10 yards for backing. You may want to make curtains, pillow cases, purses, skirts, chair covers, pillows, aprons, napkins, t-towels.

Call me and let me know approximately how much yardage you want. I have started taking payments now with any pre order. Fabric should arrive in late June, in time for traveling tourists. Just so you know. Price will be $12.50 per yard.

Yardage still available, 6-6-14:

Bison --sold out; 20 Saddle; 47 Moss; Denim--sold out; 61 Buckskin; 60 Palomino.

WHAT'S NEW!!

From Moda:

Bertie's Year: a 12 block pattern set, one for each month. We don't have all the patterns in yet, and I'm still waiting on the fabric. We will kit these once everything gets here. If you are interested in a full set, please let me know.

HAND APPLIQUE CLUB

This is a get-together & stitch class. Many of us are trying hand applique these days-- patterns are calling for a lot more applique. The club is designed for quilters who already do some hand applique, but beginners are welcome as well. We will share techniques, suggest patterns, talk about threads and, in general, just stitch. A little quiet time away from the distractions of home is what we need to get our projects done.

HAND EMBROIDERY CLUB

If you want to learn to hand embroider or just brush up your technique, join us on the second Saturday of the month from 10 to noon. We provide free vintage patterns, and this year we will have free patterns of girls with hats, that you can embroider, embellish and color. Each month Kathy Sconce shows us a new stitch to try, plus, she guides us through thread choices, how to knot, fabrics to use, and tracing techniques.

Knit Pickin' Club

This is another get-together class to sit & knit, work on our projects, share information and get some help. We will share techniques, suggest patterns, but mainly we'll sit & knit (or pick).
