VIOLET, DOWAGER COUNTESS OF GRANTHAM

Sybil, Sybil, darling, why would you want to go to real school? You're not a doctor's daughter.

LADY SYBIL

But nobody learns anything from a governess apart from French and how to curtsy.

VIOLET, DOWAGER COUNTESS OF GRANTHAM

Well, what else do you need? Are you thinking of a career in banking?

LADY SYBIL

No, but it is a noble profession.

CORA, COUNTESS OF GRANTHAM

Things are different in America.

VIOLET, DOWAGER COUNTESS OF GRANTHAM

I know. They live in wigwams.

How did we go from 15 inches of snow a week ago to 2 feet of grass? I haven't even put my snow shovel away and I now have to mow? I guess it's time to replace the battery in the riding lawn mower. By the time I get that figured out, it will be time to haul out the snow shovel again. (Cartoon courtesy of Mrs. Bobbins)

My frig came in, thought you'd want to know. It fits, but I almost don't. When I measured, I was only concerned with making sure it would fit in the space allotted and that the doors could open. It didn't occur to me that I needed to fit in the space as well. I never thought to add my hip measurement to the mix of things to know. They don't have that category on the product information sheets, BTW. So I now have an incentive to lose weight -- or at least not gain any. The good news? The frozen pizzas fit!

Why quilters are rarely asked to mow the lawn.

Don't forget the meteor shower this weekend. Friday night, actually. Well, it's really on Saturday the 24th, but it's at midnight-which still means it's still Friday night-- I never count the new day beginning until the sun comes up. I know, it's confusing. If you want, I'll send you a text at midnight. There are supposed to be 200 meteor streaks per hour.

The advice from a science writer said the earth will pass through the comet tail (he actually said debris, so I am translating here) between 2 & 4 EDT and that "further west, the time will be earlier...." I love it how the smart people have to spell it out for the rest of us.

And the name of this meteor shower is May Camelopardalids and no one knows how to pronounce it. You'd think that whoever named this meteor would have the sense to send a pronunciation guide with it. But no. You can actually google the name and find a voice recording that pronounces the name at least 3 different ways. Now, to be fair, the constellation from which the meteor appears to originate is the constellation Camelopardalis, also known as the giraffe, near the north star. The story behind the name, in case you are confused, is that the Romans thought the constellation looked like a cross between a camel and a leopard. Which is apparently an animal that looks like a giraffe. I don't make this stuff up. I just report it. Anyway, it is a better name than 209P/LINEAR, which is the actual name of the comet. I think we should just call it the Camel Showers.

Anyway, the meteors are actually dust that was ejected from comet 209P/LINEAR in the 1800s. (Don't ask how an 1800s comet was discovered in 2004. It probably has something to do with the difference between EDT and MDT.) So we're not traveling through new dust, but old dust left behind from trips from 1803-1924. The comet's orbit appears to be on a five year cyclical trip around our sun, but the first time earth will cross its tail, any tail, will be May 24 and nobody knows if we'll ever cross paths again. Kinda like the Bucking Horse & Rider fabric: We may never get it again, so buy it now. Get up at midnight to watch the meteor shower; it might not be back around in 5 years.

But what everyone is hoping for on this pass is that "shower" may actually be a meteor "storm," which happens only a few times every 100 years, at least according to the writer who reminded us that the further west you go the earlier it is. It may be the biggest thing to hit the earth, so to speak, since the Perseid and Leonid meteor showers. Like I said, just let me know. I'll send you a text. Unless it's raining.

Other random thoughts: We didn't discuss mother's day and moms, mainly because of the snow. It's hard to appreciate the day when you know the snow is killing your tulips.

So in recognition of all moms: Remember when you could do things your mom couldn't do? Like twist caps off soda bottles? And you felt so superior. What's the big deal? These days I firmly believe that caps on bottles have gotten tighter. It's a safety thing. That's all I have to say.

And let us not forget paper coverings on straws. Remember when you could wad up one end, blow through the straw and shoot it all the way across a restaurant? I know, you never did that, but your little brother always got in trouble from your mom for doing just that. And then remember when it was no longer possible to do that because the paper got too thin? I'm convinced some mother with a recalcitrant kid talked to the straw companies about making flimsier paper covers.

Happy belated Mother's Day to all mothers out there. My mom died in 1987, but I know she is pleased I have a new refrigerator. Back when I was first setting up house, she'd send me money for a toaster -- several years in a row, actually. I always spent the money on something more important. So finally she sent the money to a friend of mine to buy me a toaster for my birthday. I gotta admit, that was a weird gift from a friend. Toasters usually come from husbands. But at least I finally had a toaster and mom was happy. So she'd like this frig, although she'd probably tell me to chop my island in half.....

WORLD WIDE KNIT IN PUBLIC DAY AND SUPPORT YOUR LOCAL DUCK DERBY WITH PILLOW CASES!

Okay, I'm combining two different events, but it's June. What can you do?

First: WWKIP day. Bring your lawn chairs, knitting, snacks, water and sunscreen to the shop and be prepared to knit in public from 1-5. We'll sit outside the shop and demonstrate our proficiency at knitting. In other words, we'll just sit & knit in public. This is a world wide event that happens each year, for a week. This year from June 14 through June 22. It's the largest knitter run event in the world, according to the WWKIP site, celebrating knitting and other fiber arts. And that's where the quilting part comes in.

Second: Duck Derby. Youth Alternatives holds a Duck Derby during Super Days. We will be selling ducks for you to "adopt" for the event. 1,000 ducks will be available for adoption: A single duck is $5, a quack of ducks (5) is $20, and a flock of 'em is $100 (20). All 1,000 ducks, sold or not, are released and they swim down a slide. The one crossing the finish line first, wins. Essentially that's how it works.

So why adopt a rubber duck, you ask? Proceeds benefit Special Friends and Youth Alternatives. PLUS--there is always a plus -- by adopting a duck you are entered to win all sorts of prizes, from cash awards to movie tickets to restaurants gift cards.

In addition, from 1-5 we're holding a Pillow Case Party to benefit Youth Alternatives & Special Friends. For every pillow case kit sold, Around the Block will donate $5 to YA & SF. Plus, anyone who makes a pillow case (or two or more) and donates it/them to YA & SF, Around the Block will adopt a duck in your name. We even have duck fabric that would make cute duck pillow cases. All donated pillow cases will be sold at Duck Derby for YA & SF. So how many pillow cases can we make in 4 hours?

And for extra excitement, the Duck may come to the shop on the 14th to help promote Duck Derby. You don't want to miss the Duck.

Bucking Horse and Rider fans!

Hoffman is printing our beloved "Steamboat" on fabric! If you are interested in this fabric, please let me know quickly. I have placed my order, but I did order extra bolts. If you haven't yet placed an order and want the fabric, don't wait until it gets here. It may sell out before it arrives.

If you want to put the BH&R on backs or borders of quilts, you must think in yardage. 2-3 yards for borders (depending on size of quilt) and 5-10 yards for backing.

You may want to make curtains, pillow cases, purses, skirts, chair covers, pillows, aprons, napkins, t-towels.

Call me and let me know approximately how much yardage you want. I have started taking payments now with any pre order.

Fabric should arrive in late June, in time for traveling tourists. Just so you know. Price will be $12.50 per yard.

Left to right: Bison, Saddle, Moss, Buckskin, Palomino, Denim

Yardage still available, 5-16-14:

second Saturday of the month from 10 to noon. We provide free vintage patterns, and this year we will have free patterns of girls with hats, that you can embroider, embellish and color. Each month Kathy Sconce shows us a new stitch to try, plus, she guides us through thread choices, how to knot, fabrics to use, and tracing techniques.

This is another get-together class to sit & knit, work on our projects, share information and get some help. We will share techniques, suggest patterns, but mainly we'll sit & knit (or pick).
