

October 18, 2019

Reading a book series in reverse order has its advantages. Stuff the author keeps secret in books 1-4 (or 1-20) gets revealed in the final book, long after you have forgotten what is in books 1-4 (or 1-200). This problem is made worse if the author takes 15 or more years to finish his series, or you're reading a never ending series, like I'm doing right now.

Don't get me wrong. I like series. That's why I'm reading one right now, or rereading actually. I read these books 30 years ago and it seems strange that I can remember the series like it was yesterday. I don't remember all the plot lines, but I remember characters, the suspense, the magic (it's fantasy) and above all, the incredible mind speaking horses, called Companions. The other strange part: That was 30 years ago. And I wasn't a child at the time. How can I have 30 year old memories that only go back to when I was an adult, not a child. I'm sure that has never happened to you.

But when you read a series, if the author takes a long time between books, you will have forgotten what was in book 1 by the time you get to book 5. My advice: Wait for the last book to come out, read it, then back up & read the next to last book, and so on. Things will make so much more sense.

And you won't really miss out on anything. Authors tend to repeat the stories from the first books over and over again. A little like what I do when I talk about Becca. I tell you she is a mini red tri Aussie, with a credit card, dog house she doesn't use, and an attitude as big as a queen. I do that because I get new readers all the time, but also to remind you who she is, in case you have forgotten, which is unlikely, given the fact that Becca won't let you.

So given the above premise, it also makes sense to read as many books in the multiple book series all at the same time. Might as well. Authors tend to jump around in their series, sometimes going back in time to fill in gaps in the stories. So it doesn't really matter if you concurrently read books from the first groupings, the middle and the end.

But here's the point of all of this: If you read a series that was written over a 30 year period, and you read it in the order it was written, which usually is not in chronological order, sometimes the writer drops hints in the first books of events that happened long before or in between or even the future. It gets hard to keep track of all the people, events, history, time lines, tales told through songs, hints, vague memories characters might have of stories their great grand parents told. And then there are the side characters, who have their own stories, which sometimes mesh with the main storyline and sometimes not.

Then thirty years later, you start on the newest part of the series and vaguely remember a character called Mags, but you're just not sure. This character is an adult and the story is now about his kids. But he is still familiar. So you back up a few books to the previous series, but the library doesn't have all of the book tapes, so you select one at random, in the middle of the previous series. After all, you've read it before. It shouldn't matter much.

But then you get hooked all over again. Because now you remember more. And then you check out the very beginning of the series (just 3 books), which takes place at least a thousand years before the main series. And then you also start reading the very first book you read 30 years ago, which was the first book written about this series. Are you following all of this? Probably not. Neither did Becca.

"So you're telling me that you're reading this fantasy series about a land called Valdemar. And the very first three books about this land were written after the next (chronologically) three books were written and those first three books take place a thousand years prior to or before the land of Valdemar was actually established?"

"Yes."

"And you're also reading the very last book about this land that was just written this year? And it's about a character called Mags and his children?"

"Yes."

"And then you started reading the previous group of books, 5 of them, which are about when Mags was a kid?"

"Yes."

"And you didn't start reading those books at book one, but rather at book 5, then you backed up & read 3, then 4 and now are on book 1?"

"Yes?"

"What happened to book 2....scratch that. You can remember all of the stories, even though you are reading them out of order and all at the same time?"

"Yes. And your point is?"

"So how come you couldn't remember where you put your wallet yesterday that had your keys and credit cards? And you had to get a ride home & find someone else to lock up the shop? And it was Jean in the morning who found your wallet in the store, on a chair, saving you from rekeying your car to tune of $1000, replacing all your cards and even the library card that has taken you on this journey of reading books out of order?"

"Becca, it's time for you to go outside."

"But who's going to tell that story from start to finish so people can actually understand what you're writing about?"

"Becca! Outside."

"But!"

"Now!"

We have an industrial size AccuCut cutter with several dies: strips, squares, triangles, rectangles. Sign up for time of the AccuCutter to change your stash into usable strips, squares, rectangles and triangles. We will rent to machine in ½ hour intervals (you can get a lot cut in ½ hour).

Block of the Month First Sat of month 10:30-11:15 FREE Barb Boyer Join at any time. You get a free fat quarter if you come to class with the previous month's completed block. This year we're making a black & white + one color quilt. The challenge, if you choose to accept it, is work within the black & white palette (plus one color placed where ever you like). For the color choice, we are drawing paint chip cards, covered in newspaper so you can't see what color you're getting. But...if you don't like the color you've drawn you can 1) swap with a neighbor, or 2) draw a new color. And if you just can't bring yourself to work in neon green and no one will swap with you, you can just choose your own color.

Grandmother's Flower Garden, English Paper Piecing last Monday of each month, 2-4 Barb Boyer $20 (one time fee)

We will teach the basics of English Paper Piecing, the simple & easy way to hand piece. English paper piecing dates back to the early 1800s. It is a hand sewing method that uses paper templates to help sew complex angles together, like hexagons. Any number of different designs can be made, including Grandmother's Flower Garden (this is the pattern we're doing this year). We will also show how to hand piece the traditional way, also, if you are interested.

Hand Embroidery Club 2nd Sat. of the month, 10-noon FREE Kathy Sconce

If you want to learn to hand embroider or just brush up your technique, join us on the second Saturday of the month from 10 to noon. You can work on your own projects or you can join the project we are doing. This year we are following a purchased pattern called Gardner's Alphabet Quilt Block of the Month by Crabapple Hill. We will explore a variety of embroidery stitches for each block each block (2 letters per month), plus we will learn how to color with regular crayons to enhance the blocks. Each month Kathy Sconce shows us a new stitch to try, plus, she guides us through thread choices, how to knot, fabrics to use, and tracing techniques.

Knit Pickers' Club 2nd and 4th Wed of each month, 3-7 Carol Moler

We are changing up the Knit Pickers' Club. We're going to knit 2 days a month every second and fourth Wednesday, and we'll start earlier in the day at 3. For those of you who work, we'll still be knitting >till 7. The Club is open to all skill levels. We want to share what we've learned, find new patterns, and simply just sit and knit. We work on some felting projects, fingerless mittens, mittens, and socks. And we are working on a group project meaning everyone does the same pattern. Each month we will learn a different pattern, make it into a square and eventually put all the squares into one project Afghan, scarf, bag, etc.

Live Each Season Wool Applique Thurs: Sept 5, Oct 3, Barb Boyer $20

This wool wall hanging has 4 rows: Spring, Summer, Fall & Winter. We started the project last year with the Winter row. We've done the Spring and the Summer and now it's onto Fall. You can join us for this last row, and then pick up the other rows if you want to do the entire wall hanging. You will learn wool applique, various embroider stitches, and how to add fun embellishments to your wall hanging.

Long Arm Quilting Classes Wednesdays from 10:30-1:30, 2:30-5:30 Barb Boyer $30

In this class you will learn all about the Nolting long arm quilting machines: loading, threading, quilting. I'll demonstrate how to load and thread, set stitch length, change tension, wind and load bobbins. Then I will load a practice quilt onto the machine and show how to do hand guided quilting. Each student will be given at least 15-20 minutes of practice time. (Each class is limited to 4 students). You will be able to do free hand quilting plus you can practice following a pantograph. Any quilter who wants to rent to machines must take this class first, regardless of whether you have experience on a long arm machine. This class is not designed to teach you everything there is to know about long arm quilting it's just a start.

Nolting Longarm Machines

Nolting has 5 main machines, each with different reaches: from 17" to 30" depending on the machine. They are sold with or without a frame, but after I saw & helped set up one of the steel frames this week, I recommend buying the frame. All machines, except for the Standard-- the most economical machine-- have a stitch regulator. I recommend a stitch regulator. All machines can be equipped with a computer and there are a couple of different ones to choose from. In addition, you can get an extended table base so that you can use rulers, you can get larger bobbins on some of the models and on the frames you can get hydraulic lifts to raise and lower the tables. In the coming weeks, I will print out more information on each model.

The best entry level machine is the Fun Quilter. It comes in 17", 20" & 23" reach. It comes with the Intellistitch Equalizer stitch regulator, standard speed control, needle up/down, and fixed handles in the front & rear. This machine can also be equipped with a computer.

The Pro Machine has the Intellistitch Turbo stitch regulator, single stitch option, standard speed control, needle up/down and customizable handles in the front & rear. The Pro Machine comes in 20", 24" and 30" reach with 10-12" of inside height. There are easy dials on the front to set stitch length and other options. This machine can also be equipped with a computer.

The NV Machine is the newest in the fleet of Nolting machines. This machine has a touch screen with programmable stitch regulation. You can stitch in 4 different stitch modes plus single stitch and needle up/down. It also has an adjustable brightness LED work light. This machine can also be equipped with a computer.

Nolting also has a commercial machine with the Intellistitch Equalizer stitch regulator, standard speed control, needle up/down, and fixed handles in the front & rear. This machine can also be equipped with a computer.
